EASLEY APPOINTS SLAWINSKI TO COUNCIL ON DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley appointed Stan Slawinski of Raleigh to the North Carolina Council on Developmental Disabilities.

Slawinski has been chief of the Developmental Disabilities section in the Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Abuse Services since January 2002. He has been with the division for seven years, and for the last four he has served as a deputy chief of the section. Prior to joining the division he worked in New York's public mental health system. Slawinski received his master's degree from East Carolina University and his doctorate from the University of Sarasota.

The North Carolina Council on Developmental Disabilities advises the Secretary of Health and Human Services regarding the coordination of planning and service delivery of all state-funded programs, which provide service to persons with developmental disabilities. The council has 34 members; the Governor appoints all of the members.
